

STOP SPREAD OF WHITE PLAGUE

Judge Mann Offers Bill in Senate to Protect Public Health.

OBSERVE SANITARY RULES

This is Made Imperative Upon All in Anyway Concerned.

Legislation designed to prevent the spread of the "white plague" in Virginia and to assist as far as may be possible in the maintenance and cure of persons now victims of the disease, is proposed in a bill offered in the General Assembly yesterday by Senator Mann, of Nottingham.

Tuberculosis being "the most prevalent and fatal disease occurring in this State," the bill provides that attending physicians, commissioners or managers or principals of each and every dispensary or public or private institutions (such as, hospitals, asylums, sanitariums, homes, prisons, almshouses, schools, colleges, Sunday schools, churches, etc., owners, lessees, keepers or managers of tenement houses, boarding houses, apartments, lodging houses, hotels, manufactory, work-rooms, stores, shops and offices, nurses, charitable organizations, undertakers and all other persons shall be required to report at once in writing to the proper health authorities of the county or corporation the name, address, age, color, sex and occupation of every person afflicted or suspected of being afflicted with pulmonary tuberculosis who may come under their observation or who may die, or who may remove or be transferred from one room, house or institution to another.

Observe Sanitary Rules.

Under the bill it will be the duty of every person afflicted with this disease, of physicians, of public and private institutions and dispensaries, and of all boarding departments, officers and persons, having power and authority to do so, to observe and enforce all necessary sanitary rules and measures to prevent the spread of pulmonary tuberculosis.

Every county and municipal health department must register the names, addresses, etc., of every person afflicted with tuberculosis. This register shall be kept for record and will be made public unless the attending physician undertakes to inform and instruct his patient and to see that proper measures are taken to prevent the communication of the disease to others. No person shall be given nor will any visits be made to such persons by employees of the health authorities.

Prevent Extension.

Municipal and county health departments must furnish to all persons suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis or to their attending physicians, instructions as to measures to be taken to prevent the extension of the disease; on the death or removal must disinfect with formaldehyde or renovate all premises which have been occupied by persons suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis, and must generally educate the public as to the nature of the disease and the precautions to be taken against its spread and as far as possible to maintain separate homes and hospital wards for indigent consumptives who are unable to observe the rules of the department.

It being within the power of every consumptive by the exercise of a little care and a few simple rules of hygiene, which in no way interfere with his comfort, to absolutely control the spread of the disease, the bill makes it the duty of local health authorities to quarantine or take charge by force, if necessary, of any consumptive that they may deem a menace to others.

FLORAL CARNIVAL.

Woman's Christian Association Appeals to Public for Aid.

The Woman's Christian Association, which was organized in 1887, has, during the nineteen years of its existence, struggled on amid many difficulties to maintain a home for self-supporting women, where they find comfortable and safe protection. The income has never been sufficient to pay the expenses of the home, because of the low rate of board charged, and made necessary by the small salaries which the boarders receive. During the existence of the home it has cared for thousands from all parts of the country.

The special work of the Day Nursery is the care of infant children who are fed and cared for daily, and often clothed. The free kindergarten also cares for children under age for admission to public schools. They receive instruction under a kindergarten teacher, and are given the necessities of life. This branch of the work has enabled many women to accept employment, assured that their little ones are well cared for meanwhile. The ladies of these two institutions, in getting up their Floral Carnival, will need contributions of money and supplies of various kinds to enable them to equip the carnival in a creditable manner, and confidently appeal to a generous public for assistance.

The carnival will be under the management of prominent and influential ladies of all denominations. A meeting of officers, chairmen and vice-chairmen of the Floral Carnival was held last Friday in the Woman's Christian Association building, and a large attendance was present, and much enthusiasm was manifested in the undertaking. Considerable routine business was transacted.

BANKS CONSOLIDATE.

The National Exchange Absorbs the Peoples National.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) ROANOKE, Va., January 27.—At noon today the Peoples National Bank was consolidated with the National Exchange Bank and passed out of existence. Under the consolidation the stockholders of the Peoples Bank exchanged their stock for that of the National Exchange. Mr. E. H. Spencer, cashier of the Peoples Bank, becomes vice-president and auditor of the National Exchange and six members of the Board of Directors will be added to the directorate of the latter bank.

The object of the consolidation was to lessen expenses and strengthen the National exchange, which now has $250,000 stock and assets of $2,500,000. The consolidation of the two banks did not create a ripple in banking circles and business was transacted as usual by the Peoples' Bank until noon.

Plans are on foot for the organization of another National bank and $100,000 has already been subscribed to the stock.

They declare that it will cause them to lose a month of the term, and that the notice is entirely too short.

GAME WARDEN A STATE OFFICER

Senator Sadler Will Offer Bill Designed to Protect Virginia's Game.

ALL MUST HAVE LICENSE

This Does Not Apply to Those Who Wish to Hunt On Their Own Land.

Important laws bearing the official endorsement of the Virginia Game Protective Association will be proposed in the General Assembly this week.

In a bill to be offered in the Senate to-morrow by Mr. Sadler, of Powhatan, hunting licenses are imposed on the residents of the State, and the administration of the game laws is placed in the hands of a State commissioner of game, who will have a staff of district wardens under his control. The commissioner will be a salaried official, who will establish his headquarters in an office in the Capitol at Richmond. He will execute a bond in the sum of $5,000.

Under the act to be proposed the commissioner of game will exercise general supervision over game of all kinds and game fish in this State, and will enforce all statutes of the State and of the United States for the protection and propagation of game. He will be an active executive officer, and when necessary will take the field in person, that violators of the laws for the protection of game or game fish, song and insectivorous birds may be detected and punished.

District Game Warden.

One suitable person in each congressional district in the State will be appointed by the commissioner, who shall be designated as district game wardens, who shall, subject to the control of the commissioner, have jurisdiction throughout the State. They will hold office for two years.

The compensation for the district game wardens will be $300 per annum, payable monthly. Authority is given to the commissioner of game to keep in captivity at any time, or grant to any persons to keep in captivity, for propagating purposes, any game birds or game animals, or to send from this State such game birds or game animals, to be preserved as specimens of natural history. He may employ an attorney, if necessary, to prosecute violators of the game laws, at a cost not to exceed $200 per annum, to be paid out of any funds at his disposal. The commissioner of game and game wardens will be empowered to arrest, without warrant, any person or persons who violate the laws in their presence, or who are found with game of any kind in their possession, in violation of any such law, at the time of the arrest.

Whole Time to It.

It is provided in the act that the commissioner of game shall have no other occupation, and shall maintain an office in the Capitol at Richmond, with necessary equipment. He will compile all statutes of the State relating to game, song, insectivorous birds or game fish for distribution, conduct all correspondence, furnish any information at his command, or attainable when desired, and perform all duties required of him by law, or the Governor of this State. He will submit annually to the Governor a full report of the affairs of his office and his work, and his subordinates during the preceding twelve months. The salary of the commissioner will be $1,800 per annum, payable monthly, and he shall not charge any fee for service which he may render in connection with his official duties. The expenses of necessary travel of the commissioner of game and the game wardens, which he may appoint when traveling in the interest of the Department of Game in this State, will be paid by the commissioner of game and charged to the expenses of the department. It will be his duty to pay all salaries and expenses herein provided from the funds which he may receive under provision of the act. The Department of Game will in no wise be a charge upon the treasury of the State.

Such propagating plant or plants as the funds in his hands may justify may be sold, or he may receive compensation for the purpose of raising native or imported game with which to stock depleted sections of this State. A reasonable charge may be made for game to stock private preserves, but no game may be sent from this State.

Must Procure License.

Under the act it will be unlawful on and after July 1, 1906, for any person a resident of this State, or residing here as his permanent home, to shoot or range in hunting with firearms of any kind, any wild animals, birds, or fowls without first procuring a license. Provided that this shall not affect the right of a citizen of the State to shoot or range in hunting with firearms on his own land, when such land is owned and used exclusively for agricultural and grazing purposes, and not for club, or shooting, or hunting purposes, and not under lease or in any manner for such shooting or hunting purposes. The license fee will be $2, and all licenses will expire on the first day of July next after date of issue. No license will be issued to an unnaturalized citizen of the United States, or one whose name is permanently taken up in this State. A license will be issued to any person under the age of fourteen years, unless the application has the endorsement thereon of the parent or guardian of such applicant.

All licenses issued under the act must contain the name of the commissioner of game, and will not be transferable or altered in any respect. A hunter must have the license in his or her possession when shooting or ranging in hunting with firearms, ready to exhibit the same to the commissioner of game, any game warden of this State, justice of the peace, police officer, sheriff, constable, or any civil officer of this State when so demanded.

Any person convicted of violating the provisions of the act will be fined not less than five ($5) dollars, nor more than twenty-five ($25) dollars, nor imprisoned in jail not less than one, or more than thirty days. In addition there will be assessed against the offender in such case a conviction a fee of $2.50, which will be collected as fines are collected, under the general provisions of law and paid to the person who shall secure the conviction.

INDOOR MEET IS ON LARGE SCALE

Every Promise of a Tremendous Crowd to Attend Track Events.

EXCITING RELAY RACES

More Schools Enter—Half the Boxes and Many Seats Already Sold.

The subject of the indoor track meet of the Richmond Intercollegiate Athletic Association, which is to take place on the night of February 10th, is now becoming the talk of the shops and street corners. It is heard on every hand, and a great deal of anticipative interest is being shown, especially among those who are always enthusiastic over sporting events.

This will be the first indoor track meet ever held in the South, and for the first it will be on an unusually large scale, as all the better known universities, colleges and preparatory schools of the South have made arrangements to be represented.

The most important, the most interesting and the most intensely exciting of all the many events will be the relay races, which are always recognized as the paramount features of any meet. A relay race may be lost and won three or four times, and as each runner loses or gains ground the most intense excitement prevails, reaching its highest pitch as the last runner crosses the goal and wins.

At this meet there will be six relay races. William and Mary College, Richmond College and Randolph-Macon will run a three-corner relay race; Georgetown and V. P. I. will run against each other; University of Virginia, University of North Carolina and George Washington University will run a three-corner race; the Washington School for Boys will run against the Miller Manual Labor School, the Episcopal High School, Woodberry Forest and the Richmond High School will enter the field together, and McGuire's School and the Richmond Academy will run against each other. Adding a greater interest to these races is the Clamor for Pole Vault.

There has been raised such a clamor for the pole vault that it has been decided to include this feature among the other events, which will also include throwing a sixteen pound hammer, the high jump, the running broad jump, the still jump and the various dashes.

All the colleges are now giving daily practice to their teams. Richmond has out a big force of men every day, and Coach Dunlap is sparing neither time nor effort to bring out a winning team. The same may be said of William and Mary, where Coach Blanchard is giving daily practice to the men he has in hand, and where the greatest interest is being manifested among the student body. Randolph-Macon is also practicing her team, and gives promise of sending down a strong relay. Woodberry Forest has picked her men, who are as follows: Grainer, McClure, Lippitt, Krus, Hardy, Claiborne, Robertson and Galt. The University of Maryland has decided to send down a team, and some of the Baltimore schools will also send down teams. The full number of entries will be printed as soon as completed, which will be about the end of the first week in February.

ESTABLISH FIRST RESERVE OF NAVAL SHIPS

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Secretary Edw. Taft has approved the plan of Rear Admiral Converse, chief of the bureau of navigation, for the establishment of the first reserve of naval vessels. This will consist for the next few months of the Massachusetts, Texas, Oregon, Brooklyn and Olympia, all of which are to go out of commission before July 1. On that date the monitors Arkansas, Florida and Nevada will also go out of commission. These vessels, while in reserve, will be manned only by enough men to keep them in good condition. This, it is estimated, will require about one-fourth or one-third of the crew. In case of an emergency, these ships could be put into commission within thirty days. While all of these vessels will receive repairs, the principal work to be done is on the Massachusetts and Oregon, which will receive new batteries, electric instead of hydraulic machinery, new boilers and modern ammunition supply systems.

FORMER SENATOR DAVIS ADDRESSES YOUNG MEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—At the annual dinner of the Young Men's Christian Association of Maryland, Delaware, West Virginia and the District of Columbia, here last night, Henry G. Davis, former Democratic candidate for vice-president, was introduced as the man who had done much for the association movement in West Virginia.

"The world in the last century," said Mr. Davis, "has made more progress in material affairs than in all the ages preceding. But in this it has not eliminated or lessened to any great degree the faults of civilization."

Many railroad companies and manufacturing plants are providing for associations composed largely of their employees, or assisting to support others where their men find rest and recreation while off duty. The employer knows that his interests are best served by the employee whose habits are good, surroundings wholesome, and thoughts pure."

Barges in Collision.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., January 27.—With an immense hole stove in her port quarter, the barge Kingston arrived here to-day from New York with the barge Coal King from Providence, both in tow of the tug Edward Luckenbach. The Kingston was in collision with the barge Beuna Ventura, also in tow of the Luckenbach, off Cape Charles Lightship, at 4:30 o'clock Friday morning.

A heavy sea and nasty rain was falling at the time and it is said that that was the cause of the collision. The Kingston was badly damaged, but the Beuna Ventura was only slightly injured. The Beuna Ventura anchored off Cape Charles after the accident to await a tow to Norfolk, whither she was bound. The Kingston probably will be repaired at the ship yard here.
